

AUSTRALIAN
ASSOCIATION OF GERONTOLOGY

Friday Lunch-Time Seminar @ QUT, 12-1.30pm, 20 November 2009

“Social engagement models (e.g. Experience Corps) for promoting cognitive health in the elderly”

Professor George Rebok

Department of Mental Health, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland

2009 AAG Gary Andrews Visiting Fellow

GUEST SPEAKER PROFILE

Professor Rebok has a life-course developmental orientation, a background in gerontology and cognitive aging, developmental psychology, prevention science, and public mental health, and postdoctoral training in neuropsychology, neuroscience, epidemiology, and biostatistics. His major research interests cover three interrelated areas: 1) identification of early risk and protective factors on later life cognitive health and daily function; 2) prevention of age related cognitive decline, memory loss, depression, and disability; 3) study of the short-and long-term outcomes of cognitive intervention trials with children and with normal and impaired older adults.

Prof. Rebok

EVENT DETAILS

Date & Time: Friday 20 November, 12 to 1.30pm (lunch @ 12pm, lecture @ 12.30pm)

Venue: Queensland University of Technology, Gardens Point (city) Campus.

Room: OJW Room- Level 12, S Block (located on Brisbane river-side of campus)

Cost: Free for AAG members/ Gold Coin Donation non-members

Location & Transport: GP campus is located on the Brisbane River in the city centre, next to Botanic Gardens & Parliament House, and walking distance to buses, trains & ferries

Please direct any queries to AAG QLD President Evonne Miller - e.miller@qut.edu.au or 07 3138 9011

PLEASE JOIN US FOR THIS SEMINAR - A GREAT OPPORTUNITY TO LISTEN TO THE GUEST SPEAKER AND NETWORK OVER LUNCH!